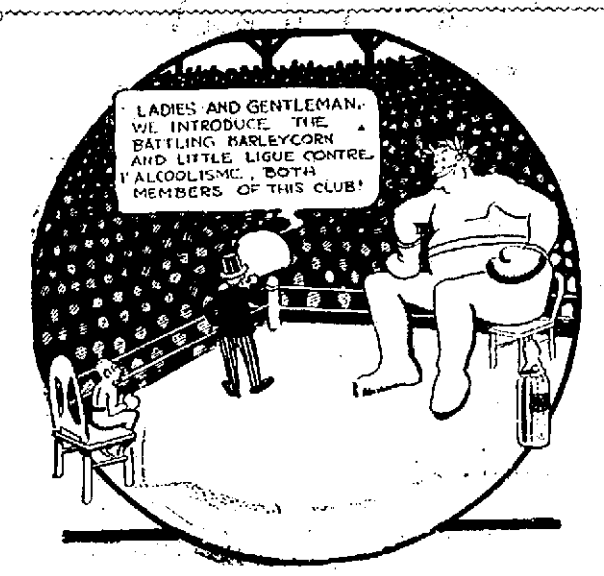
FIGHT ON BOOZE STARTS IN PARIS FOURTEEN ANTI-ALCOHOL SOCIETIES



LADIES AND GENTLEMAN, WE INTRODUCE THE BATTLING BARLEYCORN AND LITTLE LIGUE CONTRE L'ALCOOLISME, BOTH MEMBERS OF THIS CLUB!

KID PROHIBITION AND KNOCKOUT ALCOHOLISM ALL SET FOR THEIR BIG BOUT

PARIS, Apr. 4.—France, land of sparkling fermented grape juice, brandies, liquors, cordials and aperatives, has a healthy and growing anti-booze movement.

Right here in Paris where booze is as plentiful as bunk in New York, wind in Chicago and sunshine in Los Angeles, there are at least 14 societies whose main object in life is to fight booze.

The biggest of them—"Ligue Nationale contre l' Alcoolisme"—has its headquarters right on the famous Boulevard Saint Germain, scene of so many famous drinking contests.

True, the various societies and leagues do not seem to have advanced very far, or to have become remembered that the prohibition movement in the United States was scoffed at in its infancy and regarded as an impossible goal.

Anti-Alcohol in Stomachs

There is a striking similarity in the literature put out here and that scattered about the United States during the prohibition movement. American arguments are translated into terms of French life, French experiments, French science, French speeches and French statistics.

"Alcohol in lamps, under boilers, in motors—but not in stomachs," is a statement credited to a former president of the republic, Casimir-Perier.

The crusaders strike at the tenderest spot in French life—the fear that the French nation will disappear or be overwhelmed by the Germans, because of the continuous and continuing decline i nthe birth rate. Figures are quoted to show that families are smaller because of booze; that the substitution of alcohol for sugar in the diet lessens the power losis is caught at the saloon bar and that as high as 70 per cent of the tuberculars are alcoholic; that a notable part of the criminal classes are either alcoholic themselves or the children of alcoholics.

Three Lines of Attack

The anti-booze societies of France advocate three methods of procedure:

First—Anextensive campaign of education to be begun in the schools to teach the people the dangers of alcohol.

Second—Laws which if not drawn right prohibitory, would at least move in the direction of temperance. And one of thefirst moves in this direction, they say, would be to cut down the number of saloons. It is pointed out that per thousand inhabitants, Paris has 11.25 saloons, compared with 8.81 in San Francisco's palmiest days. Bordeaux, the big city which is the capital of the wine country of France, has 5.44, compared to 2.95 Chicago used to have, 3.15 in New York and 1.34 in Philadelphia.

Third—Further encouragement in the present boom is outdoor athletic sports. Various French athletes are quoted as saying they can't drink liquor if they want to maintain their superiority a sathletes and carry off prizes.

PROMOTED TO GENERAL IN UNITED CONFEDERATE ARMY

Associated Press

FRANKFORT, April 3.—General Thomas George of Frankfort has received word from his comrade, W. A. Collier at Memphis, Tenn., of his promotion to rank of General from Colonel in the United Confederate Army. The letter reads:

"You see from this address that you have been promoted from Colonel to General. You were a member of Forrest Cavalry corps which command, because of its achievements, was feared during the war and honored more since than any other command.

"I hereby tender you the position of Commander of Forrest Cavalry, in the State of Kentucky, with rank of Brigadier General. If you answered every demand made up Co. C. You certainly deserve the position, and it is a double pleasure to me to know that this honor goes to a member of my old regiment.

"Will you accept the appointment? If so notify me at once, and immediately to work, to organize every follower of Forrest, in your state, regardless of where and when he enlisted, provided his record is all right. At one time some of Morgan's men served under Gen. Forrest, anyone who served under Gen. Forrest, with honor is entitled to come within our organization, Issue your orders, and sound your bugle horn loud enough, to be heard from the Mississippi river to the Virginia mountains, and bring to our next reunion, all who can and will come."

Middlesboro Is Your City

EVERYWHERE people are coming to realize more and more how inter-dependent we are upon each other. The only individual who is self-sufficient is a hermit.

The keynote—the foundation of civilization—is the family. We all concede that. And we're rapidly coming to realize that our own home town—is a home town family—simply the family unit extended through neighborly cordiality, friendship and pleasant social intercourse.

Common good will and recognition of our human obligation is a deeper currency than any money system ever invented. But it is also to our advantage on the material side of life—it redounds in better practices, living conditions, more generous impulses. It makes Middlesboro a better place in which to live.

Let's make our home town a unit closer knit. Let's be generous with our good will—realizing that the prosperity of the individual is directly reflected in an added prosperity to our community. Your home industries and merchants have adopted this creed. Will you co-operate?

A Thought

It is better to hear the rebuke of the wise, than for a man to hear the song of fools.—Eccl. 7:5, 6.

Fools are apt to imitate only the defects of their betters.—Swift.

THE CEMETERY FOR MIDDLESBORO

This morning we heard a visitor in town wondering why a place the size of Middlesboro did not have a cemetery. We assured him that Middlesboro was planning one, that a "committee" was at work on the matter, and then we went off to wonder whether any one was doing any thing on it or not.

Several weeks or perhaps months, ago a movement to organize a stock company and buy a tract of land for a city cemetery was proposed. The matter was taken up through the Kiwanis Club as the only civic organization which could handle such a thing and was referred to a committee of that body. Since then, nothing has been heard of it.

Is any thing being done on the matter and, if so, is not the public entitled to know some thing about it? This is the time of year when grass, trees, shrubs, flowers and other improvements for beautifying cemetery grounds should be set out. In a very short time it will be too late to do any thing of that sort this year and the matter will have to wait over another year.

It is possible a matter of obtaining property has delayed this proposition but it does not seem that, with as many beautiful places around Middlesboro for cemetery locations, that this matter could long hold the proposition up or that the owners of desirable tracts could hold out for an unreasonable price when there are several places to choose among.

GOOD ROADS INCREASE PRODUCER-CONSUMER AREA

Statistics of the use of good roads by farmers for direct marketing to consumers sho wthe great advantages hard roads possess for the man who makes his living directly from the soil. It has been shown that the longest dairy route profitable over a good earth road is 15 miles for the round trip, while over a hard road the dairy farmer can operate profitably a route with a total length of 40 miles. This applies to every truck farmer, poultry raiser and farmers concerned with produce to sell direct to the consumer. Moreover, the trip over an earth road is impossible part of the year, while the 40-mile route over the hard road is good all the time, regardless of the season.

With hard roads, all country producers of foodstuffs can make profitable daily trips to the city and back from a distance of 20 miles, creating a producer-to-consumer are with a radius of 20 miles around every city.

Not only the farmer connected with a direct market, but he who is connected by a hard road with a railroad shipping point, reaps steady profit from good highways. In many States it has often happened that fruits has been allowed to rot and fertile fields have gone uncultivated because impassable roads have made profitable sales out of the question. Good roads mean steady profits and consant demand for farm products at good prices.

FORD TO TRY A NEW VENTURE

The real traffic problem in most of the large cities is curb-line parking—the use of streets as garages. Go into any busy thoroughfare and you find the street in effect narrowed 15 feet by the cars parked along both sides.

Some of this parking is ethically legitimate. Owners leave their cars outside while they shop or make business calls. But a large group of owners leave their cars at the curb all day until ready to drive home, especially on side streets which nevertheless are important traffic arteries.

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation prepared for Commission on Evangelism of Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

FRIDAY

By Their Fruits

Read Mt. 12:31-37. Text: 12:33. For the tree is known by its fruit.

"The best thing about a piece of work well done is that it registers itself in the personality of the man who does it, and he goes forward fit for more important tasks than he would be fit for if he had left a slovenly piece of work behind him. If he does his work well he lives under the great law of enlarging opportunity."

Meditation: Some try to camouflage the poverty of their spiritual life and lack of moral principle by smooth talk and occasional generous deeds. They may succeed for a time in deceiving others but in the long run such efforts result in failure, for the pretender will forget his pose and his own inner life will stand revealed in all its poverty and insincerity. But greatness of heart and honesty of purpose are self-revealing.

Personal Question: What growth do I detect in my personality as fruit of the spirit of Christ?

Prayer: Our Heavenly Father, we pray that our souls may be like well watered gardens. Give us a hearty will to bring forth fruit pleasing to thee. May we not be contented with the good but ever seek the best, through the indwelling of thy spirit. Amen.

This isn't uniformly a system of dodging garage fees at the expense of traffic congestion. The fact is that there aren't enough garages in or near the downtown sections of most cities. Furthermore, there isn't enough vacant land for sufficient garages. Cities are considering this growing problem. Underground municipal garages are suggested by some.

Henry Ford, it's reported, will build garages in Boston—three to start with, housing 300 cars apiece. These garages, as planned, will be conducted on a co-operative or club plan. In connection with them will be cafeterias and gasoline stations.

In view of Henry Ford's customary foresight, it's logical to expect that he contemplates going into the garage business on a large scale.

Why logical? Because the sale of cars will shortly be curtailed unless downtown garage space is made sufficient.

We venture to predict that, whether Ford goes into the garage business on a large scale or not, auto manufacturers as a class will. It would be a logical sales development.

National manufacturers long since learned that their prosperity and growth require more than mere sale of their products to their immediate customers.

It doesn't do any good to load a grover up with a stock of breakfast foods unless he is able to sell them. This is the purpose of national advertising campaigns.

Similarly, the sale of autos by factories is bound to suffer by any restriction of the use of cars—such as inadequate downtown parking space.

The only cure for spring fever is winter and even that usually fails.

Spring suits are so light we are going to take out insurance on ours.

The Balkans have no baseball, but they have a war every spring and that does just about as well.

First sign of spring in the arctic regions is when an Eskimo's wife wants a pair of summer car-muffs.

Push makes many a business success and usually comes from being pushed.

The only nice thing about having a bad cold is everyone you meet knows just what to do for it.

In New York, a woman was given a dollar in a breach of promise suit, so of course, his promise wasn't worth much.

NO. 13—THE FIERCE BEAR

"I'm going to eat you all up," came the fierce voice.

"I'm going to eat you all up," came the great big fierce voice again.

"Oh, please don't!" begged the duck, snapping her wooden bill up and down like scissors. "I—I never did anything to you, Mister Bear, did I?"

"No, ma'am," growled the bear. "You never did a thing to me, but that's no reason why I shouldn't eat you. I like ducks awfully and I'm hungry."

"Well, if you eat the duck first," whined the red rubber dog, "You won't be so hungry, Mister Bear. Perhaps you could wait until tomorrow to eat me."

"Nobody else waits when there is food around, so why should I?"

"No, I couldn't," growled the bear's voice. (Nobody could see the bear, they could just hear him).

"Oh, good, kind, lovely Mister Bear!" wheedled the black patent-leather cat, "Surely by the time you have eaten the duck and the dog you will be so full you won't want me. I am as old and tough as all get out, and I'm sure you would break your teeth."

"Oh, go on!" growled the bear. "I'm not good, kind, lovely Mister Bear at all. I'm a great big fierce ugly bear and I'm going to eat you all up. Grrr! Grrr!"

"But we never did anything to hurt you, Mister Bear," pleaded the three.

"As though that made any difference!" scoffed the bear. "As though it did. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander, and if you can do the things you do, I guess I can, too."

"Why, what do you mean, Mister Bear?" cried all three. "We never did a thing."

"Ho! ho! ha! ha! Hear, hear!" cried the bear. "Never did anything! My, but you have short memories! Why, the tin mouse is so afraid of you, old pussy cat, that he has nearly shivered his springs out; and the napkin rabbit is so scared about you, old poodle dog, that he comes untied every time you're near him and has to be rolled up and tied all over again; and the puffy cotton frog is worn to a thin shadow with worry for fear you eat him. Mister Yellow Duck! Will you tell me why I shouldn't eat you? They never hurt you either."

Mister Fuzz Wuzz and Nancy and Nick stepped out then.

"If you three promise never, never, never to hurt the mouse and the rabbit and the frog again," said Mister Fuzz Wuzz, "I'll chase the bear away."

"We promise!" they yelled so loudly you could have heard them in China.

"Then you go away, bad Mister Bear!" shouted the little man. "You can't eat these people. They are going to be good."

Away sneaked the nice kind little Teddy Bear, laughing and laughing. He had had a good time pretending that he was so fierce 'n' all.

The Twins had a good laugh, too.

"Isn't Mister Fuzz Wuzz smart!" declared Nick admiringly.

New Baptist Church

Editor Daily News: Please allow me space in your paper for a few lines. I desire to make mention of our new church that was organized February 25 with eight members and has grown, in one month, to the extent of thirty members. The church called Bro. Thomas Gray as pastor and Bro. R. M. Aldridge as assistant pastor. Bro. Gray is a wonderful preacher and full of the spirit.

Recently about thirty members of the new church hired a jitney and went to Moss Chapel Church. On the way there a song was started, a good old-time meeting was soon under way and one woman professed Christ right there on the bus and now belongs to the church.

We believe in the old-time religion that delivered Daniel from the lion's den and is prompting men and women who have found religion here to do right.

Most of the wrinkles in our faces are caused by worrying over things that never will happen or never have happened.

A woman can do just about everything with a hairpin. She can fix almost anything with it, except her hair.

When Chicago bandits robbed a man they overlooked $63,000, so can they deduct this from their income tax under "losses?"

IT'S A WISE FATHER—

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

There's a little dickens living in our neighborhood, ah, me! He's five years old and every inch a boy. Of course when he is good he's as good as he can be, but he does a lot of things that quite annoy.

He can keep the house in uproar and he does it all day long with the pranks and funny fancies that he has. Why you never could convince him that the things he does are wrong. He's a bundle, all in one, of pep and jazz.

Very early in the morning when he tumbles out of bed, he gets started on his full-of-vigor race. He just hollers for his breakfast; in the meantime raises ned if his mother tries to wash his hands and face.

In between meals he gets hungry and he robs the cookie jar, and he strews a mess of crumbs around the floor. Then he makes a great disturbance as he grabs his kiddie car, dons his hat and coat and slams the kitchen door.

Mother stands this run of racket till it nearly drives her mad. She decides that dad must spank him, he's so wild. But when suppertime approaches, sonny swings to good from bad and convinces father he's an angel child.

FABLES ON HEALTH

When Mrs. Mann turned to her spouse upon a certain Saturday afternoon and bade him go find the carpet beater, there was no longer any doubt in Mr. Mann's mind.

Spring was there!

And soon the dust was flying, which brings us to the moral of this tale:

In domestic hygiene it should be recorded that dust can be extremely dangerous. During the winter there has probably been considerable sickness in and around the house. The vacuum cleaner, unless it is hygienically better than the old way of sweeping up the dirt and scattering dust, is not. Also a damp cloth or a dampened duster is preferable to the ordinary dry duster.

Sunlight is nature's best disinfectant. Open the house to the sun and let it destroy the germs with which it comes in contact.

And don't forget the cellar, when the spring cleaning is on. Here are gathered many of the germs during the winter months, particularly if vegetables and fruits have been stored there. Give it plenty of ventilation.

DOHENY STOWS AWAY ON MILITARY EXPEDITION FINDS "LYNCH LAW"

This is the fifth chapter of "How I Made My Millions," E. L. Doheny's own story. It is of peculiar interest because of Doheny's position in the oil investigation. In previous chapters Doheny tells how he came west and joined the Wheeler expedition to the southwest.

BY E. L. DOHENY

On the Wheeler Expedition I got the training which made my later prospecting possible. Oregon Jack, an experienced packer, taught me the "diamond hitch"—a knack of packing an animal properly. I later devised the "muzzle-loading diamond hitch"—a one-man packing stunt.

We found some mineral on the trip. But it wasn't my chief interest yet.

After three months I returned to Leavenworth—flat broke. But the call of the southwest had got me. When I heard that another expedition was going into the Indian Territory, I sneaked into the camp, sidled alongside a soldier, who threw his blanket over me, and became a sort of stowaway; for this expedition was primarily military.

We went to Wichita, at the heydey of its wild days. There Wyatt Earp, who later refereed the Sharkey-Fitzsimmons fight, was head of a mounted police force. He had his hands full. The memories of my month there haven't faded with the 50 years that have gone by.

I drifted on southwestward.

With Charles DuBoise I went on a survey into Indian Territory, covering from the 98-100 meridian as far south as Red River. We traveled many hundreds of miles on foot. We crossed the "Cow Skin" River, so named because of the thousands of cattle that were drowned in it; Slate Creek; we went past Wellington, through the "Wood of the Arc."

Near Fall Creek we found a man strung from a tree. We shot at the rope and brought the man down. Then we were almost lynched ourselves, for interfering with "the law."

The dead man was only a youngster—yet he was a "killer." Later I found that most of the bad men, murderers and others, were 20 or under!

In another place we found the bodies of four freighters who had just been burned at stake. One of the men was Pat Hennessey, at the place of whose death now stands a town that bears his name.

For a time I acted as extra man to some of the surveyors, and I often had to go on foot to Fort Sill on their errands.

Varied experiences came rapidly. Some Indians taught me how to trap. Then with Keka Ahaka, one of their number, I went trapping for three years. I used to run horse races with the Indians. The hoof mark received in one of these contests is imprinted on the side of my head—to go with me to my grave.

A visit to southern Texas; back to Wichita on a drive; a few more bits of adventure—

And then my first real attempt to make money:

(In his next chapter Doheny tells how he staked his first claims and made his first "real money.")

L. M. U. WINS FIRST GAME OF BASEBALL

Defeats Cumberland 9 to 3 Yesterday —Brown Pitches Whole Game

HARROGATE, Tenn., Apr. 4.—In a slow moving, lengthy game Lincoln Memorial University yesterday defeated Cumberland College in the first baseball game of the season by a score of 9 to 3. The hitting of Murray and Ferguson for L. M. U. and of Baker for Cumberland was the outstanding feature of the game.

Brown of L. M. U. pitched a good brand, considering the earliness of the season. He went the full route while Cumberland used three pitchers in an effort to check the onslaughts of L. M. U.

Cumberland was first to draw blood, scoring one run in the first inning, while L. M. U. came right back, shoving two across the plate in the same inning. From then on there was no question of the outcome. With a little more practice and good weather, L. M. U. can undoubtedly boast one of the best teams in this section.

The line-up follows:

L. M. U.		Cumb.
Murray	c	Perkins
Brown	p	Baker
S. Ferguson	1b	Rhodean
Byrd	2b	Donaldson
Wilson	3b	Pollard
Carr	ss	Patrick
Williamson	rf	Childers
Harding	cf	Boris
B. Ferguson	lf	Steiner

Substitutes: Wilson for Donalson.

M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH, PLANS BIG REVIVAL MAY 12-25

The M. E. Church, South, is making plans for what will perhaps be the greatest revival that church has ever had. The dates for the revival are May 12 to 25 and the best evangelistic talent in the conference will be in charge of it.

The church here has secured Dr. M. T. Chandler, pastor of the Epworth Church in Lexington, one of the largest churches in the conferences, to preach during this two weeks' service. The music will be in charge of the Grayson trio, three young ladies from Grayson, Ky., who are considered among the most famous specialty musicians in the entire south.

Soggy Biscuits and Indigestion

From time immemorial, leavening gas has made the "touch" which made the paste of flour and water a digestible food—the staff of life. A flat and soggy loaf or biscuit is an unleavened food. So it is that leavening agents such as yeast or baking powder are employed.

To insure to the American housewife complete leavening of her biscuits, cakes, muffins, etc., which is so important to perfect digestion, the pure food authorities found it wise to require a certain standard of leavening strength in baking powder.

To maintain this guaranty of digestibility—to insure minimum deterioration of leavening strength, baking powder is packed in tin. This prevents absorption of atmospheric moisture. Dampness produces premature reaction in the can—results in loss of leavening gas.

The food official, would properly condemn baking powder if packed in cheap sacks.

But what about self rising flour? It comes to the southern housewife from remote northern mills packed in porous bags. What happens to this mixture of baking materials and flour?

Chemical analysis shows that much of it has lost its leavening strength before it reaches the consumer.

Breadstuffs made with such self-rising flours cannot rise properly—they come to the table heavy, flat, and soggy.

Why don't the pure food officials demand that self-rising flours contain 0.5% leavening gas, the equivalent to the 12% required of baking powder?

Calumet Baking Powder is scientifically and legally correct—the last spoonful is as pure and sure as the first.

Packed in tin—keeps the strength in Better Build That Barn!

WHAT BETTER TIME than now, in the "in-between season"—if there is ever such a season for the farmer. Now, during your "breathing spell," what more natural thought than barn building or barn improving? What more profitable thought?

However, all thoughts to become profitable MUST become more than thoughts; decision and action must follow.

A new, improved or repaired barn means to the farmer more than money in the bank. Every bank provides storage room for money; not every farmer provides proper storage for that which is the equivalent of money. THEY SHOULD!

The easiest and most profitable dollar is the one that's made through saving, and a good barn means a direct saving to the farmer every day in the week and Sunday, too! You know that, and are acquainted with every good argument in favor of a first-class full-sized barn. Come visit with us, we'll make you feel at home, and will do our best toward helping you to make "the home place" more convenient and profitable to you and yours.

Introduces an Extraordinary Service to Its Readers

$1000 Travel Accident INSURANCE

(ONE YEAR'S PROTECTION)

For the Trivial Sum of Seventy-Five Cents

With the development of the automobile industry, which has taken this country by storm, traffic congestion has become a menace to both life and limb. Every time one goes to work, takes a trip by steam or electric train, or goes out for a pleasure spin traffic danger awaits him. No one can pick up a daily newspaper without reading the accounts of death and disaster which constantly follow travel activity and travel congestion. As an illustration of this we have to but cite you the fact that during the 18 months while the United States was in the World War 48,000 of our boys were killed in battle.

During the same period 91,000 people in this country were killed in traffic accidents, while serious injuries resulting from the same source destroyed the earning power of hundreds of thousands more for considerable periods of time.

This awful toll of death and injury carries with it untold suffering on the part of the dependents. In fact, the suffering of dependents is the worst feature of these appalling disasters.

With the idea of alleviating the suffering and privation which are sure to attend traffic injury and death, the Middlesboro Daily News has decided to offer a Travel Accident Insurance protection to all registered readers—at a cost so trivial that no one can afford to go without it.

HOW TO GET THE INSURANCE

All you have to do is to clip out and fill in carefully and completely the coupon in the lower right hand corner of (this page and mail it with $4.75 (Plan No. 1) for insurance and paper one year in advance by mail; or $2.00 Plan No. 2) payable every three months by mail; or see your carrier boy, if on a route, or call at the News office.

You will be protected from the day you fill out this coupon and mail remittance as mentioned above and the policy will be issued and mailed to you within a few days after your order is received.

Any member or members of your family between fifteen and seventy years of age is insurable on your subscription. Have them fill out the coupon in the lower left hand corner. Inclose seventy-five cents for each member wishing a policy.

COVERAGE OF POLICY

The Middlesboro Daily News has arranged with The North American Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago, Ill., for Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance for Its Readers at Trifling Cost

This company will pay, the following amounts, subject to the terms of the policy, for death or disability on a public carrier, due to its wrecking or disablement while the insured is riding as a fare-paying passenger, or due to the wrecking or disablement of any private horse-drawn or motor-driven vehicle on which insured may be riding or driving, or by being thrown therefrom.

THE HOME MERCHANT AND YOU

THE SUCCESS of a city or community depends upon the team work of its citizens.

The success of our city depends upon our prosperity and our prosperity is gauged by the financial showing of our local banks, and the success of our business concerns are dependent upon our citizens for success. There is not a citizen—when away from home—who does not boost for "my home town," but do they do it here? The dollars spent with the home merchant are the dollars that help build up a community. The merchant in the big city pays nothing towards the support of the school in which your children are educated. In fact, the dollar sent to the merchant in the big city is gone forever so far as any good to your community is concerned. Is it fair to deprive the home merchant of your trade and thus deprive the community of the benefits to be derived from keeping this money at home? Civic pride is a virtue to which that citizen can not rightfully laiy claim who makes a practice of sending away from home for his purchases.

Did you ever stop and try to figure out what would be the best for your home town, either commercially, industrially, or socially; entirely regardless of your own personal interest?

When your home town is working on some needed reform or improvement, do you ever offer your services—not your moral support only; as a rule this kind of help is pretty weak stuff.

You have heard the expression "That town was man made." That means the citizens of that town have stuck together; have pinned their faith in and been loyal at every turn with their energy and money, and made a town where business is good.

If you have never felt the joy of doing something worth-while, accomplished something that is of benefit to your fellowmen, do it in 1924.

SAY THIS TO YOURSELF—I believe in My Town. I believe in the goods sold in My Town, and I'll buy them. Because I can get value received. Because if I sell my goods here I ought to buy here. Because the man I buy from pays his part of town, county, and state taxes. Because every dollar I spend at home gives me another chance at that dollar. Because the community which is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in. Because every dollar I spend at home stays at home and makes more money for the community in which I live.

If you patronize your home merchants you will make a Bigger, Better, Busier community in which to live. While the value of your property is bound to increase in a corresponding ratio to the growth of our city and natural increase of business, which must necessarily follow. Remember, we are all on the home team. So Trade At Home.

Extensive Plans Laid By Local Merchants For Buy In Middlesborough Week

Extensive plans have been laid for Buy-In-Middlesboro Week to be held in Middlesboro next week. Its purpose is to educate the public, in and out of Middlesboro, in the values this city offers and the advantages of buying here. All of the merchants in town will co-operate in the campaign which promises to be one of the most successful things of the kind ever held here.

Middlesboro is the logical trading center for an ever increasing number of people who would come here if they knew what the merchants here had. Road and street improvements in the past year have doubled this city's accessibility to the neighboring sections and similar improvements in the next year or more promise still further benefits.

For the Buy-In-Middlesboro Week, all local merchants, wholesale as well as retail, are planning special demonstrations of some kind. These may be on the streets or in show windows, depending on the store's supplies. The women's ready-to-wear stores will have fashion shows in their individual establishments. Some stores will have prizes, guessing contests, souvenirs and other things of interest.

Most of all, every store will have special Buy-In-Middlesboro Week bargains, every one of which promises to be worth coming for. People within a seventy-five mile radius are expected at this show.

African King's Wife Hankers For Finery

By Associated Press.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Apr. 4.—Evidence that the sister of a king, even though she be in "darkest" Africa, sometimes hankers for finery is found in a letter written by the reigning monarch to the agent of a trading post at Hlabatine.

Several of the royal communications were received here by Archibald C. Tweedie, of the state department of labor and industries, from his brother, George Tweedie, who is stationed at the trading post. One of the letters is as follows:

Mr. B. C. Dorkin,
Hlabatine:

Please allow my sister Miwa to have £2 ladies dresses don't give her more with kindest regards,

Yours faithfully,
I Mswaker Sigcau,
King of Pondoland.

The letter is written in English in a plain and legible hand. The trading post at Hlamatine is about 150 miles inland and Tweedie and Dorkin are said to be the only white men in a radius of 100 miles.

YEAR'S AUTO LICENSES TOTAL MORE THAN TWO MILLION

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Apr. 3.—Collections from 1921 automobiles, motor vehicle, chauffeur, dealer licenses for the first quarterly calendar period of 1921, as of April 1, totalled $2,279,666.49, Col. N. O. Gray, assistant tax commissioner, and head of the state automibile department, announced today.

This amount is $230,868.20 more than was collected a year ago for the same period, from Dec 2, 1922 to April 1, 1923, he added, when $1,928,789.19 was collected.

Col. Gray said he estimated the total collections for the calendar year would exceed three and one-fourth million dollars. Approximately $2,680,000 was collected in the 1923 calendar year, he said.

An increase in automobiles over the state, is his conclusion.

JAIL BREAK FRUSTRATED WHEN SAWS ARE FOUND

MANCHESTER, Ky., Apr. 4.—Discovery of four hack saws hidden beneath the floor of a cell in the county jail frustrated a jail break that might have been attended with serious consequences, is the belief of county authorities. Several partly sawed bars in the window of the cell gave evidence of the intention of the prisoners. The cell, which is isolated and in a remote section of the jail, holds only those prisoners who are being punished for some infractions of the rules of the jail. Floyd Davis, who was brought from Appalachia, Va., was the last to occupy the cell.

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, April 2. The dang r of "tainted money," filthy lucre," n politics never was realized more eenly than at present, when the rea- ns behind large gifts of cash to par campaign funds are being hid hare or public inspection.

The natural reaction is to make both ld parties exceedingly wary of how nd from whom they obtain "contri tions" this year. Perhaps later, when the flurry of the present investigations has passed, and the need for ish is more pressing, the disinterestdness of each dollar will not be so closely watched.

In the Democratic outfit Chairman ordell Hull has even gone so far as have made a financial blacklist—list of persons and interests who are nder no circumstances to be permitted to contribute to Democratic ampaigns this year. Already at least two sizable contributions have been rejected.

In the same way, Chairman Adams reported to be censoring the sources Republican revenue.

If this aversion to the dollars of the onafres will be unable to make the ch and powerful continues, many mil ionaires must deduction on their income tax eports under the head of "contributions."

• • •

The pace maker in senatorial roll all is physically, the slightest man in he Senate—Alva B. Adams of Colorado. But although he may be shy on voirdupois, Adams is one of the ental heavyweights, and his "aye" "no" as the roll call gets under ay, is a good index as to the merits the measure up for passage.

Adams is the only member of Congress from Colorado who was born in hat state. He is a native of Pueblo, 48 years old and the father of four ildren.

Adam's father, who moved to Colorado from Iowa in '56, was active in rritorial politics and after its admittance to statehood was governor for veral terms. An old brother of the nator, "Billy" Adams, claims to hold the national record in long term legislation. He was elected to the first assembly in '76 and hasn't missed a term since.

• • •

W. W. Durbin of Kenton, O., after 20 years' apprenticeship in state politics, is to be graduated to the national field this year. Durbin, it is understood, is slated as Ohio's member on the Democratic National Committee. He will supplan George White, who served as chairman during the Cox campaign in 1920.

Good Safety Record

LONDON, April 3.—Only one railway accident involved the loss of life in England during 1923. The years 1901 and 1908 were without a single fatal accident to passengers. In the last 23 years the number of railway deaths totals on 71.

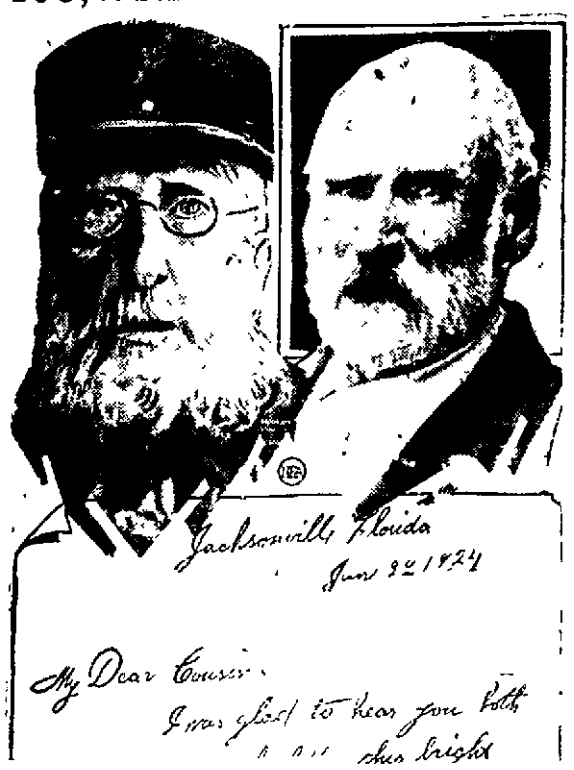
PRESIDENT MONROE'S SON 108, WRITES TO COUSIN 99!



PART OF A LETTER WRITTEN BY MAJOR EDWARD JAMES MONROE (RIGHT), SON OF PRESIDENT MONROE TO HIS COUSIN, GENERAL NELSON MONROE (LEFT)

ARLINGTON, Mass., April 4—How's your handwriting? As good as this? Perhaps not. But don't worry. It may become so in time. For the writer of the above letter is more than 108 years old. He is Major Edward James Monroe, son of President Monroe. And he is as steady in his old age as he is in his handwriting.

Born on July 4, 1815, in King George's county, Va., he has seen 25 presidents follow his father into office. He has kept his hand on the pulse of all big national events. And in all the years has not lost track of his relatives.

As witness the letter from his home in Jacksonville, Fla., to General Nelson Monroe, a cousin, here. The general is no longer a youngster himself, having celebrated his 90th birthday recently. But an active life has kept him young. While a student at the University of Pennsylvania, he enlisted as a private in the Mexican War. Then in the Civil War he became a general.

But in all these years the two cousins have kept close tab on each other by writing—

With a new flourish in each letter.

Store Being Painted

Preparations for the Buy In Middlesboro campaign and the clean up week whose dates are somewhat unsettled are being made in a very practical manner by the A. D. Campbell store. The entire front of the building is being painted white. The work has been in progress all week and will doubtless be finished before the out-of-town visitors come next week.

Nice for Doggie

LONDON, April 4.—The Countess of Kimberly owns the smallest dog in London, a Mexican hairless terrier, weighing less than a half a pound.

"I take him occasionly," says Lady Kimberly, "to have his paws manicured. He is especially fond of bronze silk stockings when he sees them."

INDIAN OIL LAND AUCTIONEER MAKES OSAGES WORLD'S WEALTHIEST PEOPLE

SKEDEE, Okla., Apr. 1.—Knocking down valuable oil lands to the highest bidder at a million or more dollars a knock is easy as puddin' to Colonel E. Walters.

To date, this genial, broad-shouldered westerner, with home and sombrero rack here, has sold more than half a million dollars worth of property under the hammer.

For a generation the ultra rich have been his patrons. Hobnobbing with millionaires long since has lost its novelty for him.

And with the different Indian tribes here on his own stamping ground, the name, Walters, is synonymous with the Great White Spirit.

Wins Confidence

Perhaps no other white man has won the confidence of the red man like Walters, super-salesman and auctioneer de luxe.

Walters for years has conducted the sales of the Osage Indian lands to oil prospectors. In so doing he's brought something like $141,060,754 into the tribal exchequers.

Just the other day in Pawhuska he dragged in another $1,000,000 for them.

Little wonder the Osages are the richest group of people per capita on earth.

Yet through all this downpour of riches, Walters hasn't lost his perspective. Nor has his sense of values been distorted.

"We're all on the block," he says. "To bring a decent price we've got to keep from getting sidetracked.

"Money isn't everything. Children, home, a good wife, a loving mother are far more valuable than gold."

The dean of auctioneers is 57. And Colonel really happens to be his first name—not a title he's adopted.

As a youngster, he came west. For some years, he tried ranching.

Voice Wins Out

But the voice which originally destined him to be a singer would not be hushed. Friends persuaded him to try auctioneering. He did. Since then, he's sold land in 26 states.

He's presided over sales where million dollar checks were pulled out as freely as Russian rubles or German marks. He's seen staid capitalists act like lunatics while his hammer kept a-tappin' down select fields in gusher territory.

Walters is married and has a married daughter.

Numerous decorations have been bestowed upon him. But most of all he values the gold-hammered and diamond-studded pin the Osage tribe gave him as a token of its appreciation for his loyalty and service.

Is A Bobber A Barber? Court Holds Negative

By Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Apr. 1.—Whether a bobber is a barber, a question that has disturbed the state of Washington since the legislature a year ago enacted the barbers must have licenses, evoked the classics when a case reached Judge J. T. Ronald in superior court here on appeal from the justice court.

"Beauty parlors, like baseball, have become a national amusement," Judge Ronald remarked in deciding that bobbers needn't be licensed barbers.

The lawyers having dealth with the case of Samson and Delilah, the judge brought out some lines from "Milton and other poets." Lamenting the modern spirit of woman, "which has robbed her of her chief charm, to make wigs and toupees for men," the court yet admonished her:

"Then cease, bright nymph, to mourn thy ravished hair
"Which adds new glory to the shining sphere."

Perhaps, moved the judicial mind as it made itself up, Anna Larson, whose locks William Hoffman, unlicensed, bobbed in a beauty parlor, had "long, loose hair flun g deftly around her head," or perhaps

"'Twas a beautiful mist falling down to her waist,
"'Twas a thing to be braided and jeweled and kissed."

After all, the court concluded, have to learn the jokes to pass examinations as barbers.

Jealously Guarded

MANCHESTER, England, April 1.—The great seal of England, of which Lord Haldane again becomes custodian, has had several strange adventures. Besides being stolen and thrown into rivers, it was once buried to escape being burned. In 1812 Lord Chancellor Eldon's house took fire and he rushed away with seal and buried it in the garden. The next morning he could not remember where he had buried it and the family had to poke the garden with sticks before it was located.

ANNOUNCEMENT

PURINA CHOWS

PURINA CHOWS ARE NOW ON THE JOB TO HELP YOU MAKE MORE PROFITS FROM YOUR CATTLE, HORSES, HOGS and POULTRY

OWNERS OF COWS, POULTRY, HOGS AND HORSES--

Yes, to help you make more profits—that's exactly what we mean. The sale of Purina Chows is based on that policy. If we can't help you figure out a better profit from feeding them, we have no right to expect your business.

All we ask is a chance to figure with you—not just the cost of feeds, but on the RESULTS. We want to show you how to lower the cost of production per pound of flesh, per gallon of milk, per dozen of eggs. We want to put the proof right in your pail, your egg basket or your milk ticket. Purina Chows are delivering the proof day in and day out all over the country. They will do it for you. Being able to prove their claims has made the Purina Mills the largest organization of its kind in the world.

The Purina System of feeding challenges every feed and system of feeding of whatever nature, home-grown or commercial. The decision is to be based on YOUR NET PROFITS. We are interested in nothing else—our future business depends upon making good upon that basis. YOUR PROFITS must come first, then ours come as a matter of course.

SO COME ON FOLKS---LET US FIGURE IT OUT TOGETHER

We don't expect you to stop feeding your home-grown crops. But we do want to show you the difference between feeding an unbalanced home-grown ration and properly balancing it up with Purina Chows. Let's both get rid of any set notions we might have in regard to feeding, and get down to brass tacks and prove our points. We're ready. How about you? Come talk it over. We won't do so very much talking. We will let Purina system do the most of it.
